A Color of His Own, Alexander and the Wind-up Mouse, and Swimmy Leo Lionni

In this charming story a little chameleon is distressed that he doesn't have a color of his own like other animals. He is very sad because he cannot move around without changing colour. Because he wants to have a color of his own so badly, he finds the greenest leaf and decides to stay there forever. This works until the seasons start to change, and the leaf turns to yellow and then to red. Finally, he finds another chameleon who suggests that they travel together and they set off on a new life of adventure.
