The Secret Beyond the Secret: The Truth About The Law of Attraction And Destiny Ardiana Bani Cohn

Author advocates the law of attraction to follow destiny not to create a new one. Ardiana Cohn highlights the steps to following one's destiny in "The Secret Beyond the Secret" TORONTO – Author Ardiana Cohn questions the application and the boundaries of the law of attraction. When so many have failed to fulfill their dreams, is the law of attraction even true? Can one use this law to create their own destinies? Can all dreams come true? Her answers to these questions are Yes, No and Maybe. Yes the law of attraction is true. No, no one can create a new destiny. Destinies are already designed. She explains that only dreams that align with destiny will come true, other dreams even though they sound very appealing might just bring ruin at the end. Cohn explains that the misconception of the law of attraction is that many have mistaken the cause for the reason. She challenges this reason by asking a series of questions: What if the wishes and dreams are not a coincidence when they come from within? What if these people who successfully fulfilled their goals in life by applying the law of attraction, have wished for what was in fact their destiny? What if a plan existed first which gave them the impulse to follow a certain goal, wish or dream? How many people went against all odds and followed their dreams because it just felt right to them? Where did they get that inspiration even though others labeled them "crazy dreamers?" In this book Ardiana Cohn looks at life like a building with many floors. Everyone's goal is to find the door that leads to a place of happiness on the top floor of that building. But when on each floor, we are stuck facing different possibilities, how do we know which door will lead to joy without wasting our time trying to open them all one by one? How can we save ourselves from the frustration of spending our energy on the wrong projects, goals and decisions with no end results? Even though we hold the right key in our hands, The Law of Attraction, it will not open every door, says Cohn. This key only fits one of the doors on each floor, and this is the secret. In "The Secret Beyond the Secret" (ISBN 1461006899), Cohn explains how anyone can use the Four-Step Formula to find the right moment and the right path to success. Only surrendering to own destiny will save time, energy and reduce frustration. "The Secret Beyond the Secret" is available for sale online at Amazon.com and other channels.
